Dear Alan:

Pursuant to your request, I am enclosing the following:

Mr. Oksuz's e-mail address is Doasnyc@aol.com. The date of the instant message is typed above the line entitled "Original Message." The date below "Original Message" is the date the message was printed.
2. E-mails from Franco Gallo to Dursun Oksuz (Exhibit 2). I am advised that Mr. Franco's screen name is "vitafrancoitalian." Mr. Oksuz's screen name is "aleximusalex."
3. E-mails from Gino Ferrara to Dursun Oksuz (Exhibit 3). I am advised that Mr. Ferrara's screen name is "dantealighieri."
4. Copies of letters (Exhibit 4) complaining about Giulio Libutti which Mr. Gallo dictated to Mr. Oksuz. I am advised that Mr. Gallo told Mr. Oksuz to send these letters to try to get Mr. Libutti fired. Mr. Oksuz never sent the letters.

I am in the process of drafting an EEOC charge against Alitalia on behalf of Mr. Oksuz. I plan to send you a copy of the charge before filing it jointly with the EEOC and the NYS Division of Human Rights, as a courtesy to you.

Sincerely yours,

Richard S. Corenthall

Dear Franco,

Honestly, I hesitated to write this letter to you but at the end I thought it would be beneficial to our company, personally to you and finally myself.

As you certainly will remember during our numerous conversations regarding the promotion within the company you offered to me. It was not an easy decision for me to make in accepting your offer for which I renounced as you well known to other job opportunities already offered to me and economically richer than Alitalia's. Due to your convincing strategy and in the long run growth opportunity that available to me, I gladly accepted your job offer. My enthusiasm and professional desire to prove myself and your expectation have been synchronized engine to invest all my time and capability to reach the mutual objective to succeed. Unfortunately, my enthusiasm has been gradually compromised since my appointment to the new position by the severe hostility environment, been created within the company in New York's office and in particular by my former supervisor as well as accounting department colleagues. It has become almost a daily routine to hear negative remarks if not very offensive regarding my professional capabilities and my PERSONA, as you know I am very proud of my origin and my residency in this country it is for better opportunities available and greater challenges. I could go on with such daily negative comments reported to me and often over heard by me personally at every level of rank and file employee as well as management figures. As you know I do not admire any victimization act, therefore I beg you to interpret through these note, what I sincerely my feelings are at these stage and in line with the fullest respect and trust in you personally and the company that we both represent as a way to remain faithful and transparent to everyone. I am certain that you will personally intervene with successfully in changing such horrible situation which deeply humiliates me and that our common objective can be still reached to the benefit of Alitalia and both of us.

I thank you very much for your time and understanding, but believe me it has been a period of time that my life as become an inferno.

With my deepest respect,

Dear Franco,

I am compelled once again to bring to your attention that I feel a persisting harassment pattern toward me in general by senior management, but in particular by Mr. Libutti who lately, on an almost daily bases offers negative remarks and comments directly to me. For example: on such date as you know I came to the office early in the morning to work with you on Olympia travel at exactly 7:00 AM. You will certainly remember how intensive the work that day was. Around 4:30 PM leaving the office on my way out, near the men's room Mr. Libutti, with an expression full of irony, made the following comments: "where are you going?" I said that I was going home. He replied, "I see, you are a part time employee." (I worked a full 9 1/2 hours.) Since then Mr. Libutti directly or indirectly has decided to watch over me and I feel that I am not trusted by him. On another occasion Mr. Libutti out of the blue made the following comment: "why do you not ever come to see me?" I said, "we are particularly busy in this period." He replied with a very authoritative manner, "You should know that I am your boss and you must come in to see me." Franco, at this point I am confused. I do not know how many bosses I have. Franco, frankly, I am very concerned about this situation and these continuing hostile and harassing behaviours against me. As a matter of fact, it has been necessary for me to seek the help of a psychiatrist as well as a psychoanalyst. I still hope that something will be done and that I will be given the possibility to work in a normal and decent environment.

As always thank you for your your help,

Dear Franco,

I am very upset, distressed and extremely preoccupied!!! It is clear by now that a dirty plan has been established by Mr. Libutti to either place me in a position to resign (which I will never do) or to find any kind of reason to terminate me. There are many, many instances that Mr. Libutti continuously tries to undermine me, harrass me, offend me and so on. Just for your information, these are just some of the incidents that I encountered with Mr. Libutti lately:

A) (la data) He called me in his office asking me where was I the previous day because he could not find me in my office. As you may recall I informed you that I had a doctor appointment and that I would have updated myself with the attorney on Martori's file the following day. His usual inquisitive behavior made me feel so much stressed that mentally I was confused and thinking in a form of protection, pushing me to lie. I immediately informed him that I postponed my duty on the Martori's file and indeed I did go and see my doctor on that afternoon. Franco, I am an adult and responsible. I can not permit anyone to treat me with such horrendous tricks to embarrass me and question me like a seven year old child.

B) He came to my office looking at me in a very inquisitive way and asked me: "what are you doing?" I replied that I was checking the daily newspaper online which I do almost every morning in order to update myself on principle events in the world. He went on and asked what I was eating even though it was clear that I was eating a cookie because I had a cookie in hand. Continuing once again, he asked me what kind of work I was doing. I replied that I was updating myself on my cases that we have open. And since you were out of the office on that day, I could not make any final decision on certain files because you instructed me that during my probation period, any final decision on the work should be taken together. He replied, "I remind you, you must be more active. Do not forget that you are on probation and you should go around and ask questions." Franco, this is clear to me that this is continuing to harrass me. I really do not understand who are the people that I should ask questions of about my work when I know that my job is to provide answers to my colleagues according to the nature of our responsibilities. As you know I bombard you with questions on a daily basis and answers are given to me, and being that you are my superior, I really do not understand why Mr. Libutti is questioning me if not for the reason to harrass me and undermine my professionalism.

C) (la data) while coming back from lunch in the elevator and in the presence of other people including our Mr. D'Ilario, Mr. Libutti asked me the following question:

"On which item are you working now?" I replied that there were several items that I was working on like the fuel surcharge problem, the lawsuit in Mexico and so on. Franco, I understand very well what Mr. Libutti wanted to do: He wants to continue to harrass me by asking questions about my job even though he doesn't know anything about the cases that I work on. His questioning me in front of other people was not intended to give any contribution to my working cases but only trying to put me in difficulty and under stress in front of others.

Franco, all the above incidents make it clear to me that he has an agenda to make my life miserable and I can assure you that he does not behave with other people as he is doing with me. At this point it is necessary for me to ask you for two days vacation in order to relax, to be away in order for me to rest and try to alleviate my heavy stress. At this point, I feel it necessary that you and I meet outside the office to discuss my working relationship with Alitalia. Please let me know.

Thank you for your time and understanding,
